Hi, I'm Zaki. 🙋

I built Cozy Corner as a personal space to collect and share the media I love — anime recs, honest reviews, community picks, and a few slices of everyday life.

No sponsorships, no algorithms. Just genuine enthusiasm for good stories, slow evenings, and the kind of media that stays with you.

A Few Things About Me

✨

Favorite Genres
Fantasy, mystery, and slice of life — with a soft spot for anything atmospheric or bittersweet.

🎬

What I Enjoy
Anime, movies, shows, and games. If it tells a good story with care, I'm in.

☁️

Why I Made Cozy Corner
To have a quiet place to share recommendations and reviews with people who might love the same things.

📖

My Review Style
Honest, cozy, and spoiler-light. I'd rather make you curious than tell you everything upfront.

PERSONAL UPDATES

Life Lately

Not a blog, not a vlog — just little dispatches from everyday life. Slow, honest, occasionally caffeinated.

The new monstera corner is everything

I spent most of Sunday rearranging the living room so the monstera could get better light. Three hours later the whole room looks different and I have zero regrets. Plants are the gentlest form of interior design.

Found my new favourite café

It's called Haze & Honey and it's on the kind of side street you only find if you're slightly lost. The matcha latte has a little bee pattern on top and they play Mitski on the speakers. I went three times in one week.

The podcast I keep recommending

Nothing Much Happens by Kathryn Nicolai is exactly what it sounds like — quiet, descriptive stories about nothing in particular. I've fallen asleep to it approximately 40 times and each time felt like a gift.

Things keeping me busy 🌙

Propagating houseplants and slowly running out of windowsill space

Attempting to crochet a small cloud — jury's out

Film photography — one roll at a time

Learning to make proper homemade ramen broth
